Virtual Instructor-Led Training

Veritas Education Services Datasheet.

Overview

For dispersed teams or employees unable to travel, Virtual Instructor-Led Training (VILT) is a comprehensive training option that maximizes the value of your Veritas software and ensures best practices in your IT organization. Combining multiple live training tools with remote access to hands-on labs to recreate the classroom experience, Virtual Instructor-Led Training is the right training solution— wherever your teams are located.

Virtual Instructor-Led Training Highlights

Virtual Instructor-Led Training classes are a unique combination of interactive, live components and self-paced learning technologies. You achieve the same level of deep knowledge transfer available in the classroom via:

- Interactive Live Webcasts: During scheduled Webcasts, communicate directly with your Veritas instructor, attend Q&A sessions, and experience live navigation of Veritas software
- Practical Hands-on Labs: You'll remotely access live Veritas systems, and benefit from thorough, real-world experience as you practice what you've learned in an authentic, hands-on setting
- Expert Mentoring Support: Access your instructor's expertise with private one-on-one sessions

Practical Benefits

Save Time with the Convenience of Remote Learning—Save valuable time by training IT members across multiple sites at their own workstations.

- Save on Travel Costs—Expertly train every member of your IT team, without travel costs
- Stay Current and Confident—Access a pool of Veritas experts with deep, real-world product knowledge
- Maximize Efficiency—Get your team up-to-speed quickly with training designed by experienced Veritas engineering, product development and technical support experts
- Gain Peace of Mind—Know your teams are prepared to handle any situation effectively and to respond efficiently to real-world situations
